

1 ABSTRACT

2 A reflection image and an environment map are loaded into memory.
3 During rendering of an object, an environment texture sample is retrieved from the
4 environment map based on a reflection vector stored in a pixel of the reflection
5 image. The retrieved environment texture sample is then applied to the object.
6 The object thus rendered is stored in a frame buffer.

7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25